

Eradication of invasive plant species in Oslo

Heracleum mantegazzianum and the closely related Heracleum persicum, are large, fast spreading invasive plant species that threaten the native flora. The graph shows the development of the eradication work done in Oslo. Data source: Agency for Urban Development.